The LOVEJOY FAMILY
of ANDOVER

John (1) Lovejoy, son of Rowland Lovejoy and Elizabeth Heale, was born, according to Lovejoy research, in London, June 18, 1622. He is said to have come to Andover in 1650. Mrs. Arthur Lovejoy said that family tradition has it that he came to Ipswich at the age of nine years, which would be 1631, ( which I doubt). Said he was on the list of those coming in the Arbella, (which I doubt), unless he came as a child under a guardian, a Fowler, Mosely or Osgood , or Everard relatives of his wife.

( Savage said that John (1) married 2nd, Naomi Hoyt, daughter of John (1) Hoyt of Salisbury. Not so, it was John (2). He then mentions John (2) in the ship with John's(1) second wife. Savage had no note of any Lovejoy in the lists.)' ( See Pope )

John, b. in 1622 was in Ipswich in 1651. He married Jan. 1, 1651 Mary Osgood (2) daughter of Christopher (2) Osgood and his first wife Mary Everard. Mary Osgood was born in Marlboro, England, and baptised March 17, 1633. She died July 15, 1675.

John (1) married 2nd, Hannah Pritchard, widow of Wm. Pritchard who was killed at Brookfield Aug. 2, 1675 in the Indian wars on Ipswich. They, John and Hannah, were married Nov. 12, 1676; She died Aug. 1, 1705 of cancer of the throat; John died Nov. 7, 1690.

They lived in the North Parish near Wilson's Corner.

John (1) and Mary Osgood, had :

Mary (2) , b. April 11, 1652; d. June 19, 1677; m. Joseph Wilson, July 4, 1670. He was the son of William Wilson and his wife Patience, b. Nov. 10, 1643 ( Boston). He m. 2nd Sarah Lord, dau. of Robert and Mary of Ipswich, on Apr. 24, 1678. She was b. there in 1648; d. May 2, 1727. Wm. d. Apr. 2, 1718.

Sarah (2), b. Apr. 11, 1654; d. Feb. 22, 1706 of a cancer in the breast, a year after her step-mother d. of one in the throat. She m.

Sgt. William Johnson, May 23, 1678. He was son of John Johnson and wife Susanna, b. 1652, probably in Ipswich. He m. 2nd, in Charlestown, Hannah (Lazelle) Turner, Nov. 23, 1707. She was the widow of James Turner of Charlestown, and was daughter of John Lazelle and Elizabeth Cates of Hingham. Hannah was b. Aug. 31, 1662 ; d. in Andover, May 22, 1717.

John (2), b. Feb. 9, 1655; d. July 14, 1680; m. Naomi Hoyt, March 23, 1678, daughter of John (2) Hoyt of Newbury, and his 2nd wife Frances. Naomi was b. Jan. 25, 1655 in Newbury. John (2) was a soldier in the Narragansett War. They probably lived on John 's (1) division lots in West Parish.

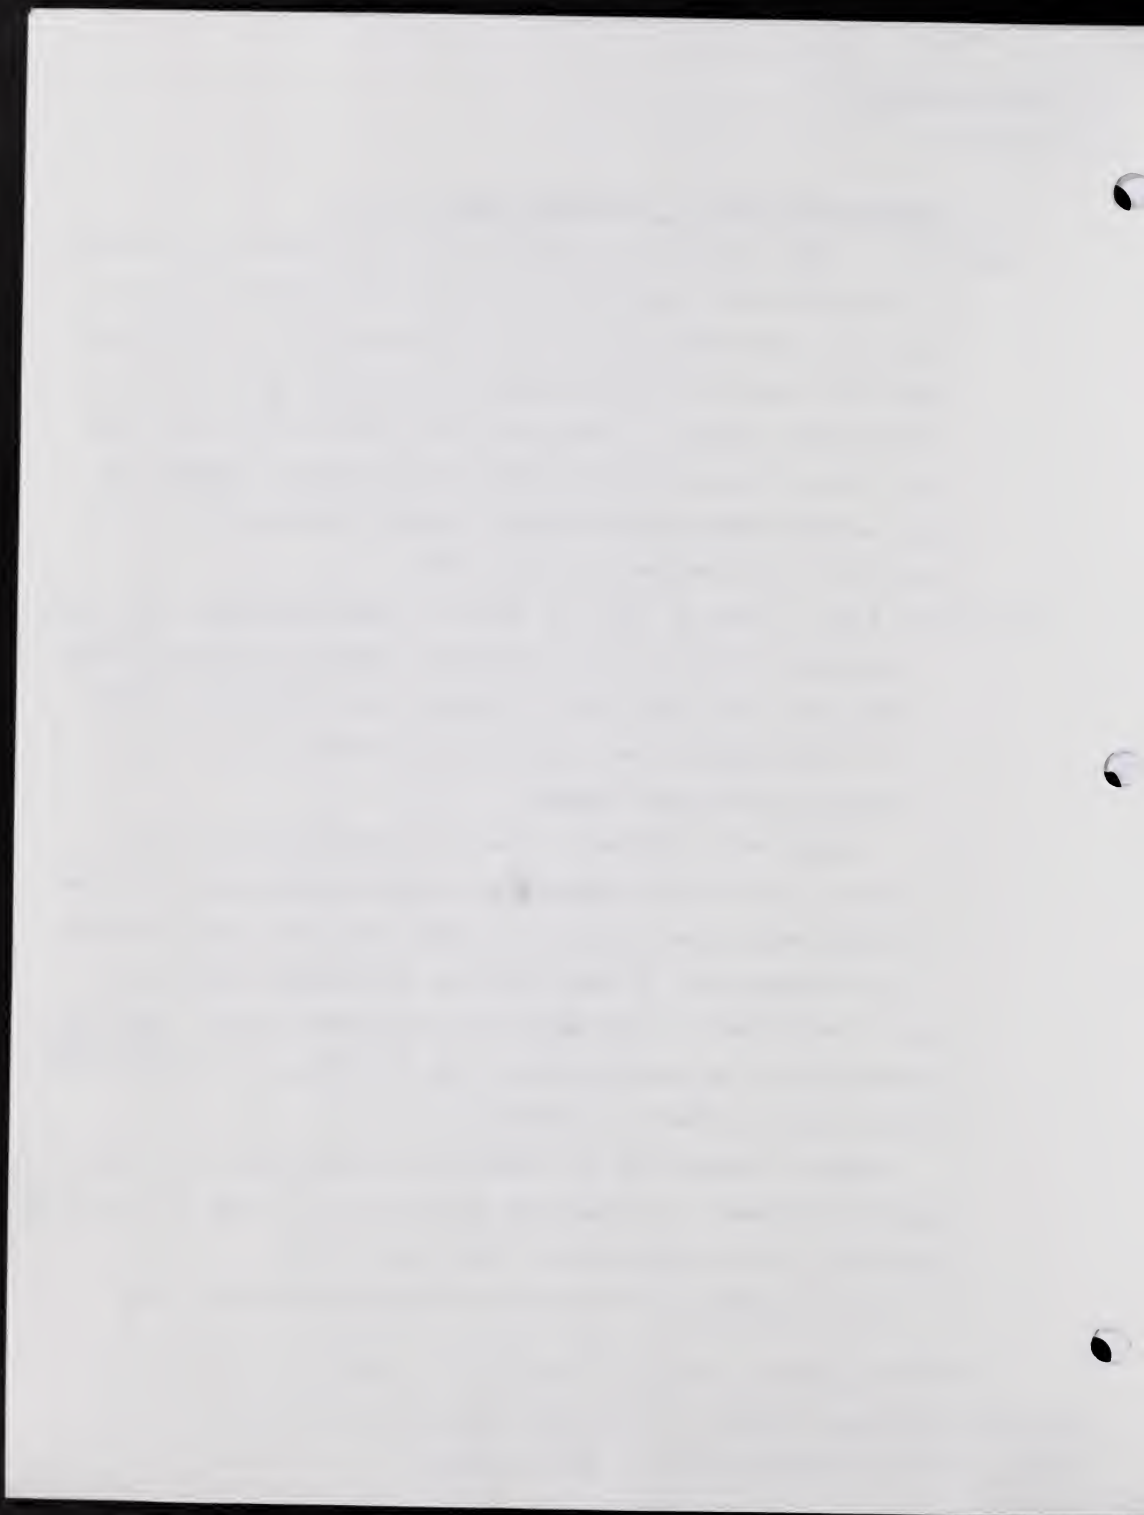

Naomi had a daughter, B. Naomi, in 1684, while she was a widow, and it is so recorded under Abbott; date not given. Her children were placed by John (1) under the guardianship of their uncle Ebenezer (2), at home. Naomi m. 2nd, Richard Shattuck, a son of Sam'l Shattuck and Mary Frye, and nephew of Capt. John Frye. Richard was b. in Concord, Mass., Dec. 21, 1664; d. 1703. (<sup>His dad</sup> m. 1st Eunice Potter but <sup>she</sup> had no children.)

Naomi d. before 1699 in Charlestown, leaving one son, Ichabod Shattuck. Richard m. 2nd Margaret Sheafe, Apr. 8, 1699, who outlived him, and m. 2nd a Parker, after 1727; she d. 1780.

The first Lovejoy estates are said to have been on the site of the Unitarian Parsonage in North Andover Centre and along the road to South Parish, held last by the heirs of Capt. Lovejoy.

William (2), b. April 21, 1651; d. July 9, 1748. Was a Deacon and Lieut. )

m. Nov. 29, 1680 Mary Farnum (3), oldest daughter of Ralph (2) and Elizabeth Holt, b. before 1661; ( record lost) d. Dec. 25, 1739.

( Probate of Farnum gives clue and deeds. Wm. left no will; the estate was divided by deed.)

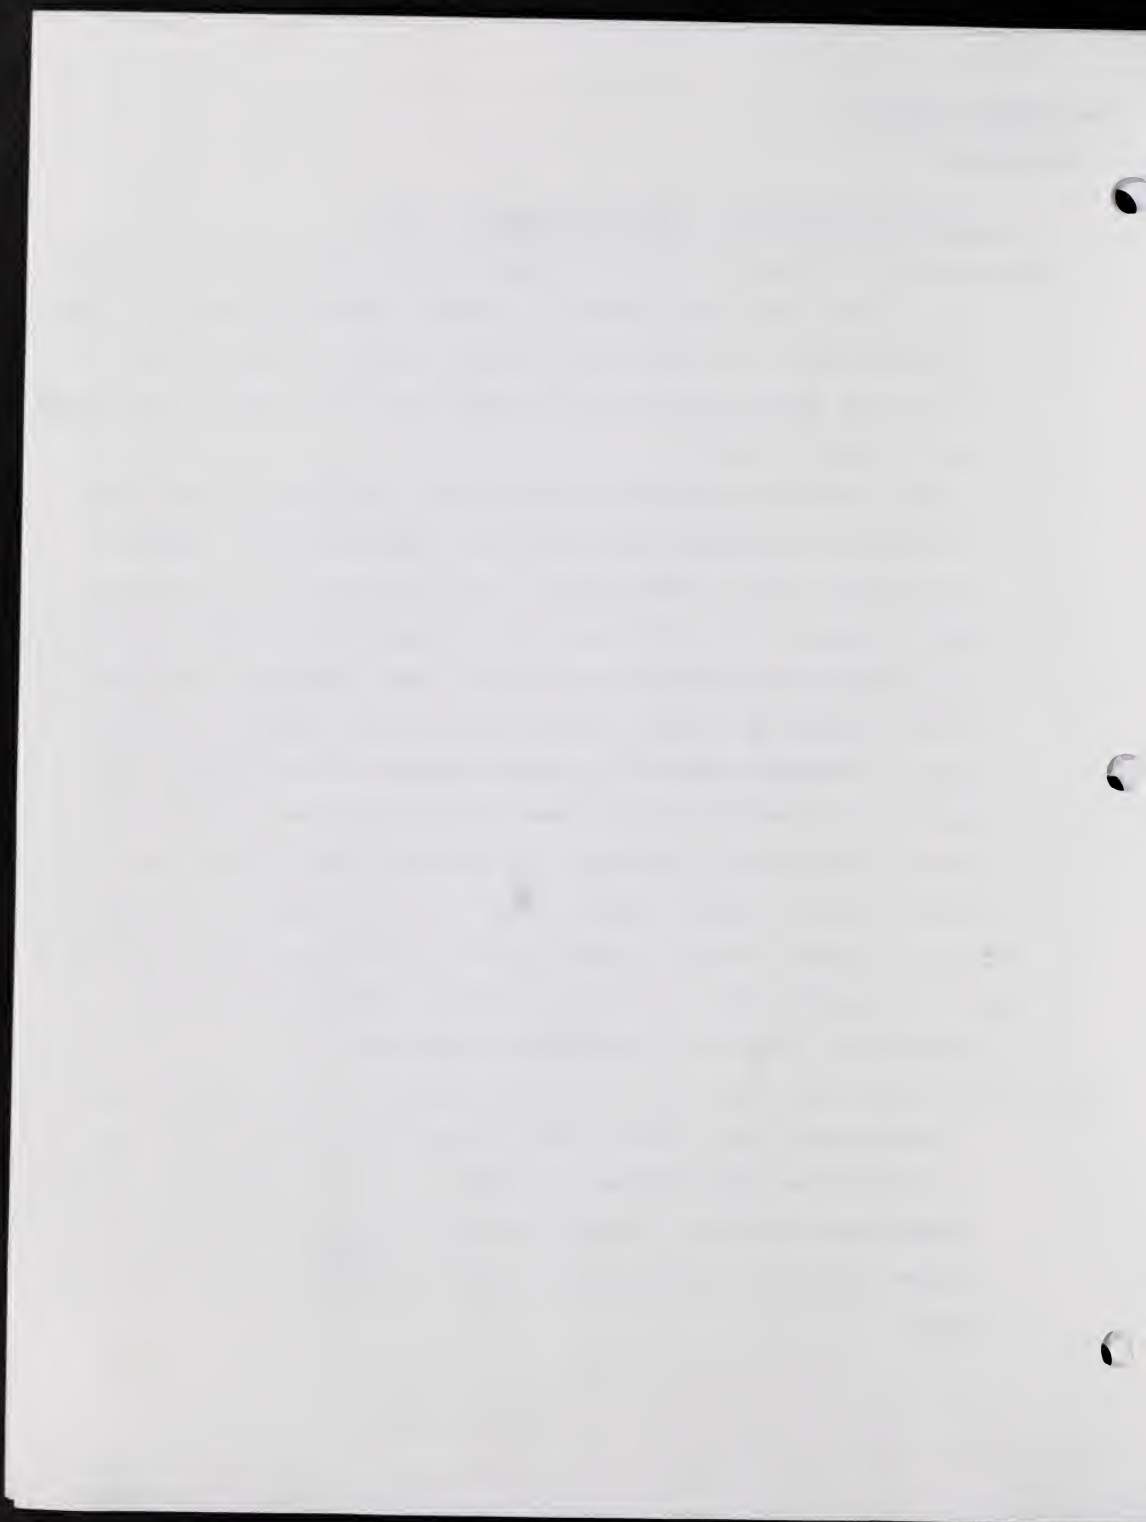

William and Mary lived on the Locke place on Elm St ; there were 2 houses on the estate; one across the street on Moses Foster's place still stood in 1748. About 1760, Isaac Abbott, a son-in-law, built a mansion still standing, which matched the one built by his cousin Henry on the site of the Andover Press Building. Same style of architecture as the Ben Boynton place in West Andover which was built by Zebediah Abbott who married another Lovejoy daughter. All three homes were built in the same period by the same contractor. One old estate was on High St., and some think Wm. had his home across from old Stephen Moor's place, occupied last by Wm. Brown.

Joshua Lovejoy's estate lay there at the end and ran to the Locke place on the Haverhill Road and included Warland Village Mills, then Lovejoy Mills. High St. was called Lovejoy Lane.

Anne (2), b. Dec. 21, 1659; d. Feb. 29, 1724. Her stone is standing in South Church yard. She m. May 26, 1685 Jonathan Blanchard, son of Sam Blanchard and Mary Sweetzer, b. 1663; d. Oct. 19, 1742; he m. 2nd Hannah Wyman, widow of Timothy of Woburn, Feb. 1, 1725. She died before him and is buried near 1st wife. Her <sup>head-</sup>stone and his stone are gone.

Joseph (2), b. Feb. 8, 1661; d. June 5, 1737; m. May 26, 1685 Sarah Pritchard, daughter of Wm. Pritchard and wife Hannah, his step-sister, b. probably in Ipswich before they left for Brookfield, about 1666. She d. June 20, 1739. Joseph held an estate in North Andover ( not fully placed as yet), though near Nathe's, on No. Parish line. No will- estate divided by deed.

Christopher (2) b. March 1, 1662; d. Mch. 17, 1737; m. Sarah Russe, daughter of John Russe and Debora Osgood, May 26, 1685. She was b. Feb. 3, 1668 and d. April 19, 1745. (He left a will)

Benjamin (2) b. Dec. 4, 1664; d. at Pemaquid 1689; a soldier in the Indian war. Wages were due him, and had he lived he would have been well set <sup>up</sup> as his father had set off an estate for him.

Nathe (2), b. May 29, 1667; d. March 7, 1752 ; at 85. He m. Mch. 21, 1694 , Dorothy Hoyt, daughter of John (3) Hoyt and Mary Barnes, b. Jan. 2, 1674, a niece of Nathe's brother's 2nd wife, Naomi. Her father was killed in Andover, Aug. 13, 1696 at Blanchard Garrison, with William Peters. She d. May 17, 1714; Nathe m. 2nd, Elizabeth Wilson, Aug. 16, 1716. She was of Hampton, NH., a widow of Wm. (3) Wilson, son of Sherburne (2) Wilson and Abigail Osgood.

Nathe bought up the estate of the heirs of John (1) and John (2) and some from Ebenezer (2) (These others moved to West Andover to the Division Lots.) Joseph's line also stayed in North Andover until the time of the Revolution. Then both lines disappear and leave Ebenezer's (2) line the sole branch in Andover.

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions and activities. It emphasizes the need for transparency and accountability in financial reporting.

2. The second part of the document outlines the various methods and techniques used to collect and analyze data. It includes a detailed description of the experimental procedures and the statistical analysis performed.

3. The third part of the document presents the results of the study. It includes a series of tables and graphs that illustrate the findings of the research. The data shows a clear trend of increasing activity over time.

4. The fourth part of the document discusses the implications of the findings. It suggests that the results have significant implications for the field of study and may lead to further research in this area.

5. The fifth part of the document provides a conclusion and a summary of the key findings. It reiterates the importance of the study and the need for continued research in this field.

The LOVEJOY FAMILY
of ANDOVER - Notes - 13-A

One of the most interesting lines in Andover:

Baird's "French Huguenots of America," gives the French refugees of Salem, among whom were the Valpeys, in 1661. The tale is from this family, to the effect that the Valpey who came first, was from the Isle of Jersey, and with his mates was lost from a fishing fleet in an open boat, and drifted down from the Banks, perhaps to Salem Harbor, or where Salem mariners picked them up. He never returned.

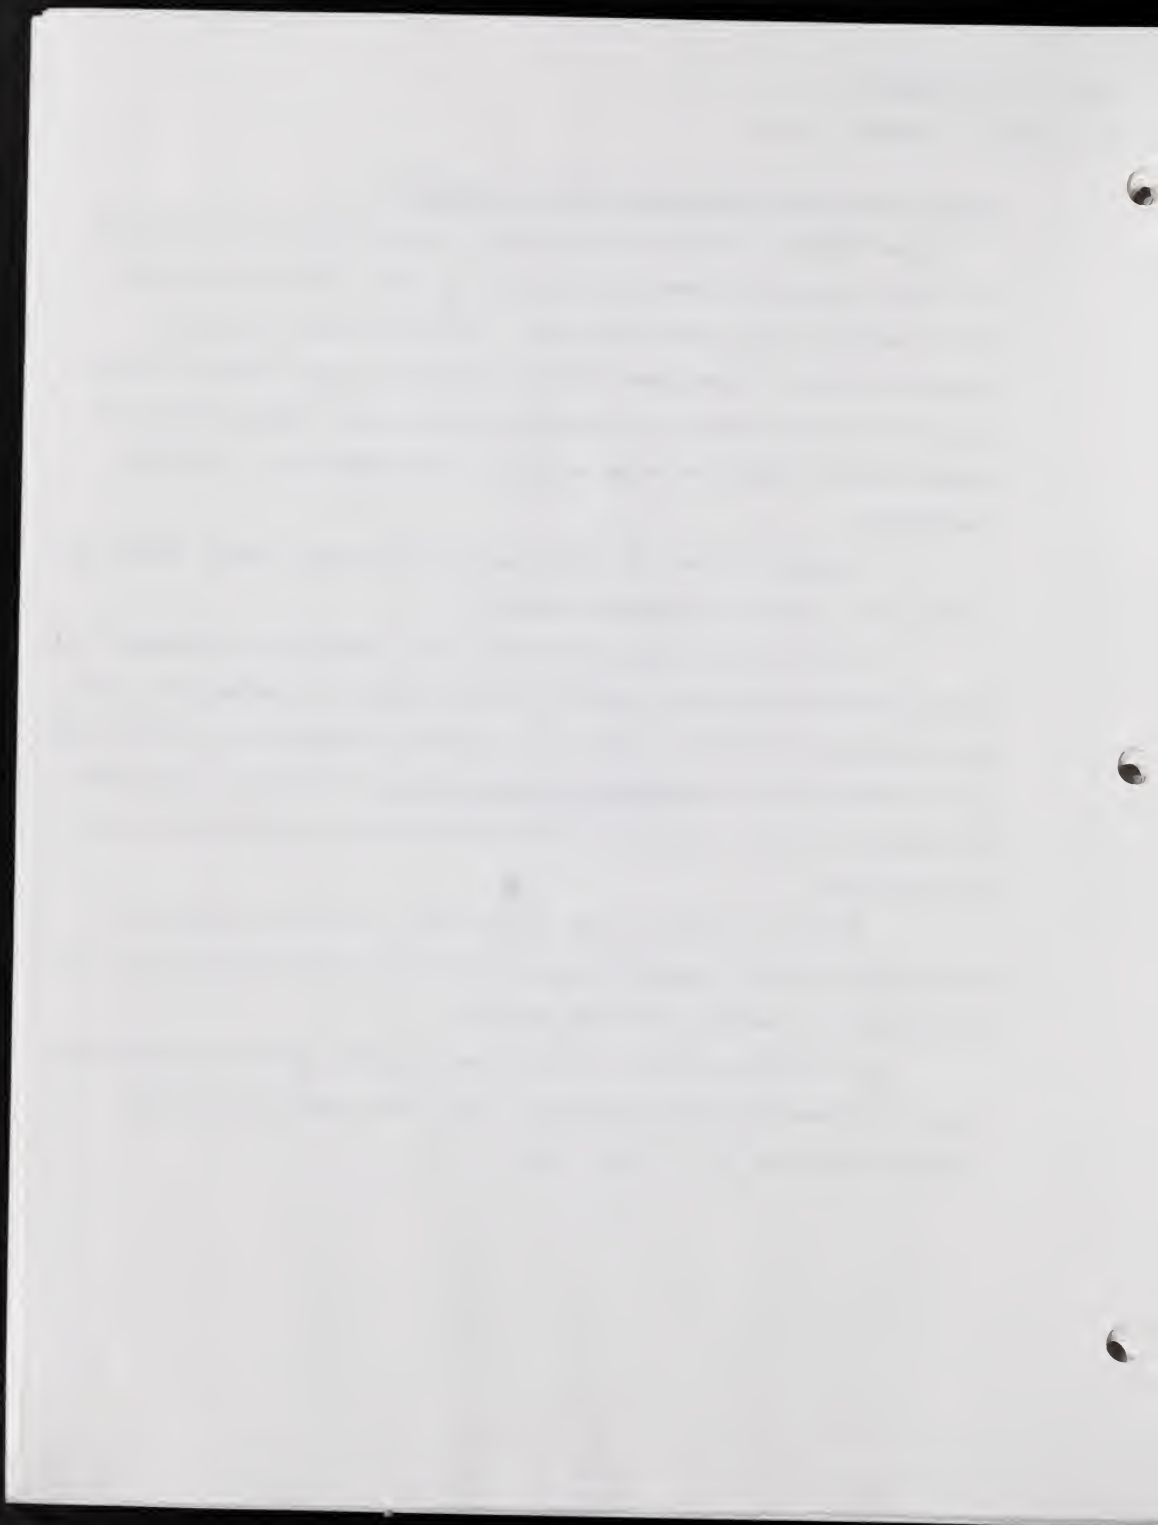

Abraham Valpey of Salem married Elizabeth Fowle, Sept. 28, 1728, and our line descends from her.

Dorcas Abbott, born March 26, 1782, daughter of Jonathan (5) Abbott and Dorcas Abbott, married George Valpey, of Salem, and these were parents of Samuel S. Valpey of Andover. Jonathan (5), above, was son of Jonathan (4) and Martha Lovejoy Abbott, so Samuel Valpey was grandson of Martha Lovejoy, while his wife was a granddaughter of Lucy Lovejoy.

Seldom do lines so far apart unite, but the children of this union have in a marked degree the beauty of the Lovejoy eye, so noticeable in the line of Caleb Abbott.

As the Valpeys are a small line and will never be written up save as French Huguenots, perhaps I will soon prepare my Valpey sketch and annex it to this blank.

THE HISTORY OF THE UNITED STATES

The history of the United States is a story of growth and change. From the first settlers to the present day, the nation has evolved through various stages of development. The early years were marked by exploration and settlement, followed by a period of rapid expansion and industrialization. The American Revolution and the Civil War were pivotal moments in the nation's history, shaping its identity and values. The 20th century brought significant social and political changes, including the rise of the American Dream and the challenges of the Cold War. Today, the United States continues to grow and change, facing new challenges and opportunities in the 21st century.

TO THE EDITOR:
I am writing to you to inform you of the results of my research on the properties of the new material which I have discovered. The material has many interesting properties and I believe it will be of great value to the scientific community.

The material is a new type of polymer which has been synthesized by a new method. It has a unique structure and properties which are different from any other polymer known to date. I have conducted extensive experiments and have found that the material has a high degree of stability and is resistant to many different types of chemical and physical attacks.

I have also found that the material has a high degree of flexibility and is able to withstand a wide range of temperatures. This makes it a very promising material for many different applications, particularly in the field of materials science and engineering.

I am very pleased to have discovered this new material and I believe it will be of great value to the scientific community. I am currently working on further experiments to determine the full range of properties of the material and I hope to publish my results in the near future.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry, no matter how small, should be recorded to ensure the integrity of the financial data. This includes not only sales and purchases but also expenses and income. The document further states that regular audits are necessary to verify the accuracy of these records and to identify any discrepancies. It also mentions that proper record-keeping is essential for tax purposes and for providing a clear picture of the company's financial health to stakeholders.

In the second part, the focus shifts to the management of inventory. It highlights the need for a systematic approach to tracking stock levels, ensuring that there is always enough inventory to meet customer demand without overstocking, which can lead to increased holding costs. The document suggests implementing a just-in-time (JIT) system to optimize inventory levels and reduce waste. Additionally, it discusses the importance of regular physical counts to reconcile with the recorded inventory levels.

The third section addresses the topic of budgeting and financial forecasting. It explains how a well-defined budget can serve as a roadmap for the company's financial future, helping to allocate resources effectively and identify potential areas of concern. The document stresses the importance of reviewing the budget regularly and adjusting it as needed based on actual performance and changing market conditions. It also mentions that accurate forecasting is crucial for making informed decisions about investments and expansion opportunities.

The final part of the document provides a summary of the key points discussed and offers some concluding remarks. It reiterates the importance of maintaining high standards of financial record-keeping and inventory management, as well as the need for continuous monitoring and adjustment of the budget. The document concludes by expressing confidence in the company's ability to achieve its financial goals through diligent adherence to these principles.

The first part of the report discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It is essential for the company to have a clear and concise system in place to ensure that all data is properly recorded and stored. This will help in the analysis of the company's performance over time and provide a basis for future decision-making.

The second part of the report focuses on the financial aspects of the company. It details the revenue generated from various sources and the associated costs. The analysis shows that the company has a healthy profit margin, which is a positive indicator of its financial stability. However, there are areas where costs can be reduced, such as in the procurement of raw materials and the management of overhead expenses.

The third part of the report addresses the operational challenges faced by the company. It identifies the bottlenecks in the production process and the inefficiencies in the distribution network. The report suggests several strategies to improve operational efficiency, including the implementation of lean manufacturing principles and the optimization of the logistics system. These measures are expected to lead to a reduction in lead times and an increase in customer satisfaction.

The final part of the report provides a summary of the findings and recommendations. It emphasizes the need for continuous monitoring and evaluation of the company's performance. The recommendations are based on the analysis and are designed to address the identified issues and improve the overall performance of the company. The report concludes by stating that the company is well-positioned to achieve its long-term goals, provided that it implements the suggested measures.

The Lovejoy Family

of Andover - Notes - 27 -A

Jeremiah (5) Lovejoy ( wife Hannah Johnson) built a house on the north part of the Lovejoy division, which has decayed,- a lonesome place on a back road and not inhabited today. Mostly wood lots.

The Ballards and Johnsons who were kin to his wife left for Danville, Me ., then recently settled, and Jeremiah probably tried a short residence there. Very likely more of the children will be found recorded there.

I conclude that the young man, Josiah Johnson Lovejoy, who died here in Andover in 1807, age 22, had returned to live here or to visit his grandparents. He was not buried in the West Yard, or at least no stone was raised.

I find Jeremiah and wife Hannah in the South Church records, as joining, Dec. 7, 1788, and their dismissal to Danville, Me., Nov. 29, 1792.

Dorothy Lovejoy, wife of Asa Towne, and daughter of Jeremiah and Dorothy ( Ballard ) Lovejoy, was in Andover a while, and in Boxford, when Asa ran off to War in 1812; their son, John, lived in Salem and became a trader in Boston, -groceries- and later had a clothing bazaar at Oak Hall, Another son, Henry, was a sea captain of Salem; another, -Joseph, was a trader there; daughter Sarah married Deacon Oliver Reabody of Boxford, where they lived until they moved to Topsfield. They had 3 daughters and two sons.

Dorothy took a letter to Weare, N.H. from South Church in 1802.

Lieut. Asa Towne was of a family that became prominent in the Witch trials of 1692, and on his mother's side was of an ancient Topsfield line. grand- Lt. Thos. Cummings. His father, was a soldier of the French War; his father was at Bunker Hill; Solomon, brother of Asa, was a sea captain, and was the person who introduced the Russian stove.

The Lovejoy Family
of Andover- Notes-27-B

Asa/and his brother Daniel came to Andover and were associated in the building of the Wooden Bridge over the Merrimac River at Bodwell's Falls , on the site of the present bridge. They also constructed the South Church edifice that preceded the present building. They were in Andover between 1788- 1800.

Some failure of contract obliged Asa to leave to avoid prosecution for debt or mismanagement, and he resided in Charlestown after 1804, when he and Dolly, his wife, took out letters from South Church, which they had joined in 1795.

Asa seems too young for an extended service in the Revolution, but could have entered the Army at 16. His military service after the war was the origin of the title.

Tradition says that Asa French, husband of Mary (5),(Jeremiah (4)) Lovejoy, was of Concord. Her son, Asa , (and probably more children, ) b. in Weare, N.H., was a rover, as was John French, the next son. Mary took a letter from South Church to Weare, N.H. in 1802.

The Lovejoy Family
of Andover - Notes-35-A

Rev. George Mooar in the Mooar Genealogy, said that Oscar A. Mooar, a soldier from Andover in Co.1, 2nd Regt. N.H. Volunteers, died in Salisbury Prison, North Carolina, Feb. 14, 1865.

This soldier was the son of Abiah (7) Lovejoy and Andrew Allen Mooar, and grandson of Bodwell (6) Lovejoy and Sally Poor.

Probably the friends in Andover, where he <sup>is</sup> buried, thought he was killed on some battlefield. Later he was discovered to have been kept in prison, where he died.

Some soldier thought to have been Oscar, may have been sent home for burial in 1863, as the monument erected over the grave gives the date of death : July 31, 1863.

Or it is possible that a soldier took the name of Oscar after the real owner's death in 1863 (?) and died a stranger but drew the pay of Oscar until he was taken prisoner?

One of War's mysteries.

Katherine (7) Lovejoy/ <sup>b. Oct. 30, 1812,</sup> daughter of Bodwell (6) Lovejoy and Sally Poor, married at Andover, Jan. 3, 1842, Joseph Salter Grush, b. 1816 at Marblehead, son of Jacob Mooar and Phebe (Chandler) Grush.

Joseph was in Bubler's Expedition to New Orleans 1862 and in 1863 was commissioned 2nd Lieut. 14th Battery Light Artillery; was living in Dorchester, 1901.

The Lovejoy Family

of Andover - Notes -35 B-

Hannah Lovejoy, daughter of John (5) Lovejoy and Persis Bailey, b. Oct. 1816, was brought up by Mrs. James Ballard Lovejoy. Hannah married William Callahan of North Andover, oldest of nine Callahan boys, and they lived in 1863 in Abbott Village in the "stone house" so called, on Cuba St.

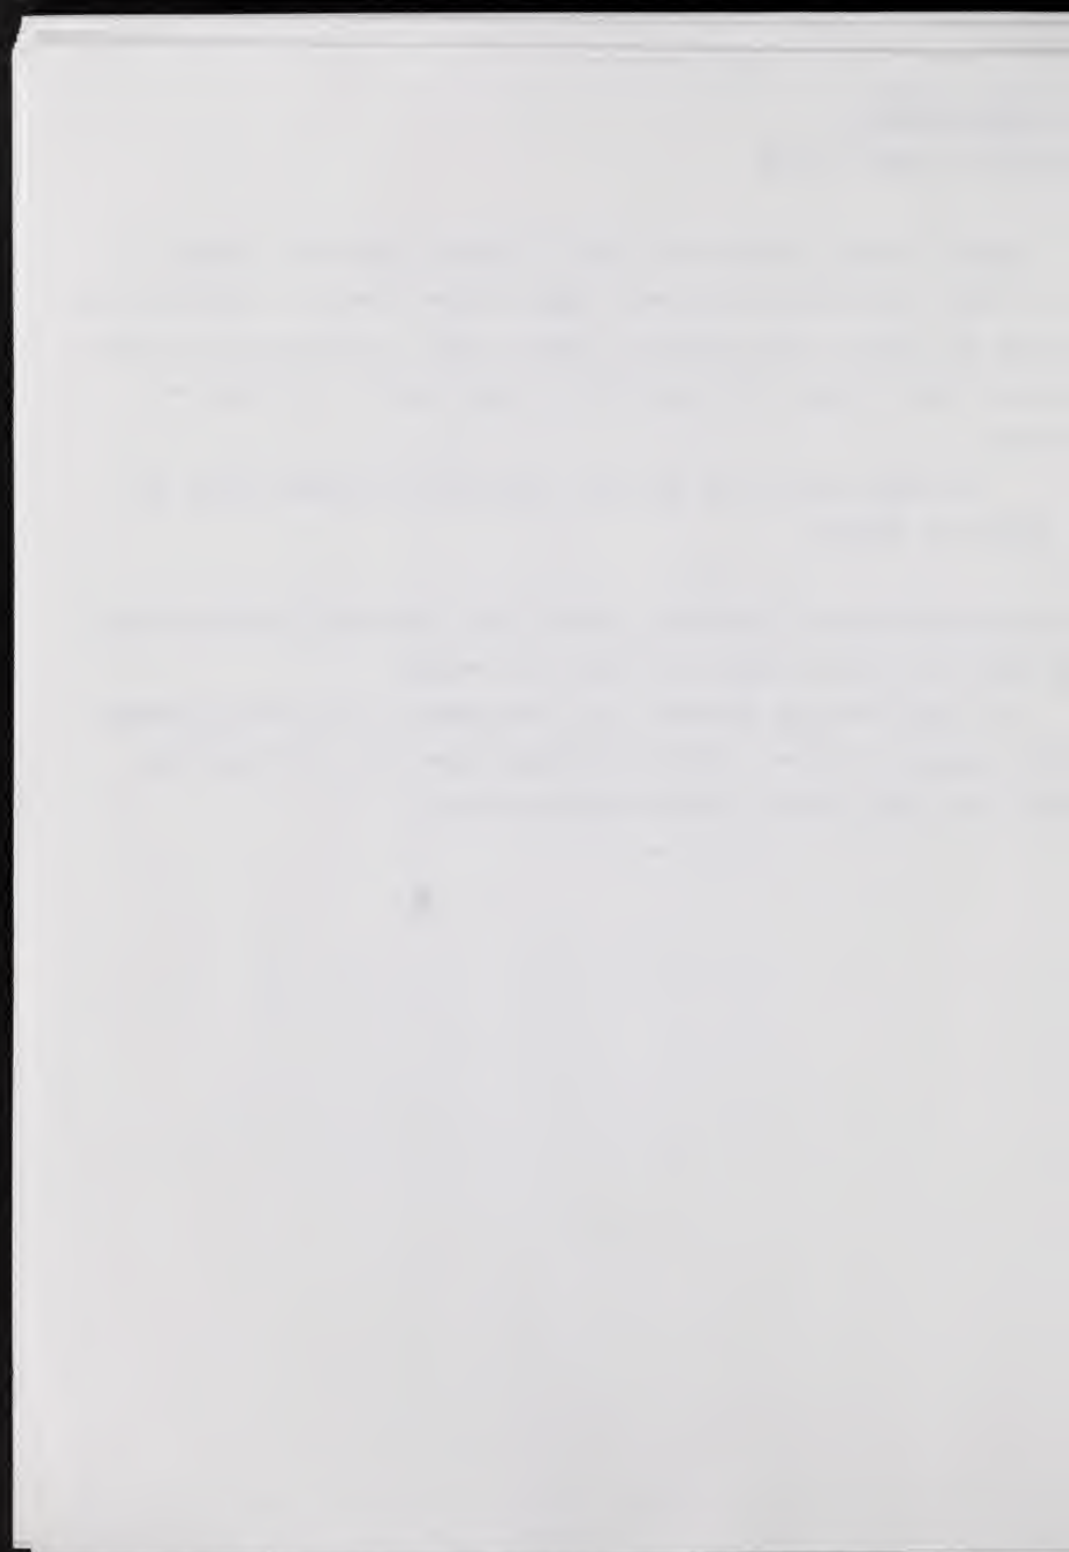

The lady who told me this was a daughter of William Bailey and sister of Persis .

James Ballard Lovejoy suffered greatly from a carbuncle on his head for ten years, and finally lost his reason as a result.

He came back from Freeport, Me., and bought a farm here in Andover, 1807; Hannah, his widow, said she had lived there ever since and that all save three of her children were born there.

The LOVEJOY FAMILY

of ANDOVER - NOTES - 36-A

In March, 1896 Albert A. Lovejoy gave up his position as engineer in the Davis & Furber Machine Shop of North Andover, which he had retained for 13 years. He was the last of the original employees who started, in 1880 with the plant.

At the age of 17, Albert began his apprenticeship with Bradford Burden. Later he became overseer in the "jack" room and "built the first "Jack" that ever spun a thread in Lawrence", the machine being in the Bay State Mill. He was foreman from 1846-1852; overseer of loom room 1852- 1863. Until 1880 he held various positions in Methuen and Lynn, returning to North Andover when Davis & Furber struck their stride.

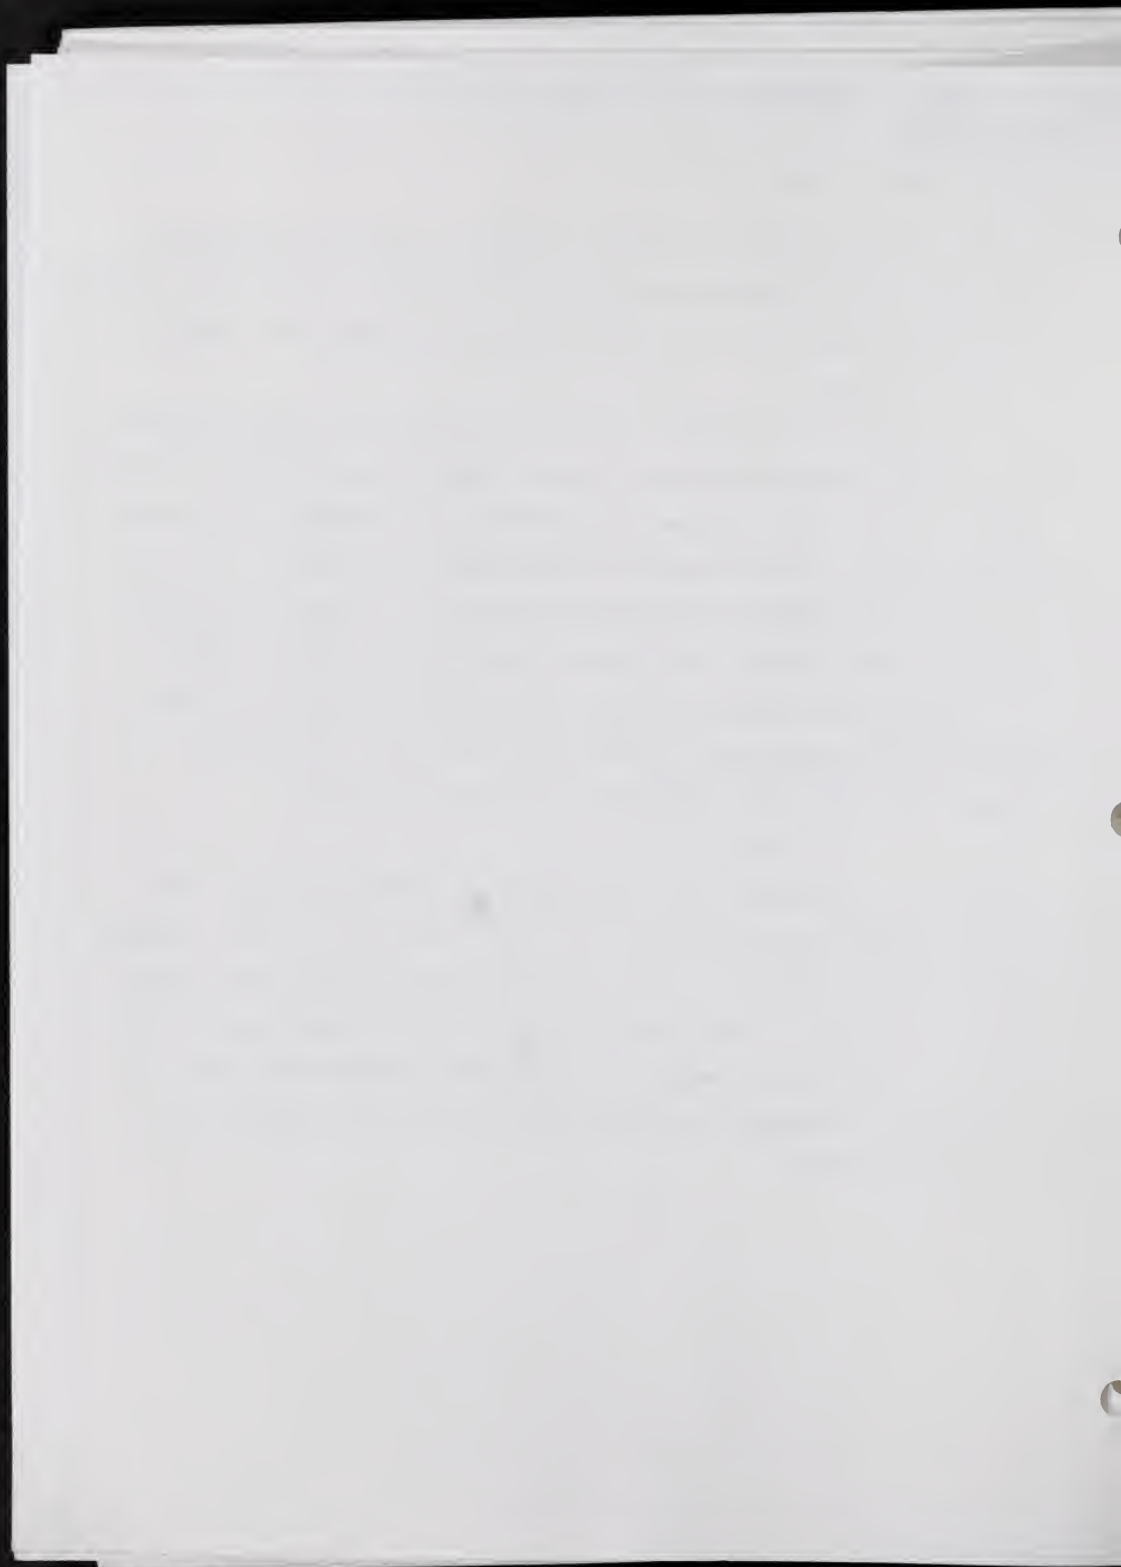

Faithful and efficient, highly respected by associates, the decision of Mr. Lovejoy and his wife to spend their old years in Hartland, Vt., was deeply regretted by their townspeople.

An article in the Townsman 1896, notes that an Albert Lovejoy, 4th child of Henry Lovejoy and Elizabeth Poor of West Parish, was born in 1821, near "Butler's Cave". This was a place on the Merrimack River below Dracut now included in Andover but near the Lawrence line. His mother was said to be a native of Rindge, N.H., and as I could not find her birth here, I should place her in Rindge, as her father was a pioneer there, but I do not know her age at death.

The LOVEJOY FAMILY

NOTES - HOMES-

Stephen Lovejoy lived in the old James Cochrane's second place which his widow Salome sold when she bought a third home for herself. This , in 1864, was the John Hardy property. Old William Hardy said that a RICHFORD lived on the place before James Cochrane got it, - and, before Hardy took it, Friend Moore, (who sold hard liquor under the guise of FISH and had to skip from town,) was the owner.

P-----

Isaac Lovejoy 's place was on a lane next to Amos Moore's and beyond Capt. B. Shattuck and Fred Noyes; beyond him was Rufus Bailey's homestead, where Henry Lovejoy, son of Isaac, built at his marriage, and lived, up to the time of his death.

--- ---

Wm. Lovejoy lived in the Chandler Abbott house in 1800. He is said to have built part of the dam, probably the one at Lawrence.

Deacon Eben Lovejoy built the Carruth place on the site of the old, ( the year of the Great Gales ) and sold to Carruth in 1837. Eben/<sup>'s g-father</sup>set out an elm tree back of the barn, but that is gone now.

Eben Lovejoy's home was a building put up for a store opposite the School House near the Pond. It stood west of W. Griffin's place , and I think that Aaron Osgood kept store there for a long while. Bartlett lived in it when he had a blacksmith shop there. When he gave up the business the old shop was moved to the John Lovejoy place for a stable, then sold again, and it wound up on Seminary Hill somewhere.

John Lovejoy, brother of Eben, lived opposite . He was a very deaf man, or blind- and Josiah Edwin Griffin lived with him and helped carry on the farm, in 1862/

In the next house to John Lovejoy, lived Mrs. Hannah Lovejoy, widow of old James Ballard Lovejoy, whose husband built on the lot of the present Dr. Nehemiah Abbott's. Mrs. Lovejoy bought the land from Hugh Ewing, an Irishman, who lived in old house on the place. Ewing owned the land where her son Wm. Bailey lived, in 1863; Wm. Hardy hired it before 1800. A Boston man named Hurd once owned the Bailey Lovejoy home and used to come up for the summers. Francis Butler of Haverhill was also a tenant.

Poor called on Bailey Lovejoy, who had lived there since 1844. Six Lombardy poplars stood before the home then, when they came.

Near Goodell Gilbert's home, a few rods away, stood a white cottage where Deacon Ballard Lovejoy lived in 1835. Southeast stood Gideon Foster's, an old home, probably left by the father of Gideon.

Mehitabel, widow of Joshua Lovejoy, lived in the next house to the Fielding's, in 1863.

Ebenezer Lovejoy built a house on Blanchard's Plain and Joshua Osgood went to live in it. This was the father of Joseph Thompson Lovejoy, and the house was where Jo now lives. In fact, Jo's may be the 1st of three houses on the property. I called there once and saw a square house, which he said came from the Woods' place, - beside the old one of her father, and the new residence.

Capt. Mathe (4) Lovejoy and his 1st wife, Elizabeth Foster, daughter of Asa Foster and Elizabeth Abbott, of Boxford, came to West Andover with Ebenezer (2) and Christopher (2) in the syndicate that bought so much land there.

The LOVEJOY FAMILY

NOTES - HOMES-3-

Asa Foster inherited a large farm there. At the death of his first wife he married Lucy Rogers, and lived near the site of the Charles Shattuck place. The Marquis de Chastellux visited during Lucy's reign, and called it a wretched place " fit only to bait horses". Probably he had only poor liquor, as times were hard.

Asa was a valiant Capt. in the French War Expedition to Canada.

From the Osgood Almanac :

Joshua Lovejoy had a mill-wheel down by the Marland Mills. Little David Osgood toddling along the banks, fell into the stream and went through the wheel, unharmed. He later fought in the Revolution and lost his life there. Joshua raised his home, on the site of the present one, on June 5, 1746.

Mary Lovejoy, daughter of Joshua (4) married James Parker. They lived on the Stephen Mooar place on High St.

Isaac Lovejoy married the widow of Eliahin Wardwell, and lived in a house since burned down, on land now known as the Roger Downing place. The house stood in a peach orchard across the street from Downing's, when I was a child.

-----

Mr. Frye thought that the old John Lovejoy home was the Chandler Mooar place on High St, taken down in 1831. High St. ran from Frye Village past Osgood's- now the Poor Farm.

Isaac (5) Lovejoy lived near Lawrence where James Toy lived in 1864.

War Notes

Nathan Lovejoy, belonging to a unit called a " company of shipwrights " is recorded as at Boston, enlisted for the Crown Point expedition.

Jeremiah Lovejoy is a member of a company under Capt. Jn. Foster, July 24, 1756.

Timothy Lovejoy is credited with 15 weeks service in 1756. Earlier in the year, from Sept. 20 to Jan. 12, 1756, he has 27 weeks to his credit- and the loss of a blanket and fire arms in a battle, and travel from Andover to Boston. He was also in service May 7, 1756, with John and Joseph Shackford under Capt. James Frye.

The Lovejoys have the " substitute papers" of Ebenezer, in the French War.:

Andover, April 22, 1756.- Received of Mr. Ebenezer Lovejoy (father) the sum of 8 lbs. 13 s. 4d., which sum I received of said Lovejoy to procure a man to serve in the present expedition to Crown Point (Pint) which same is to serve for said Lovejoy's son's turn. <sup>From</sup> Jn. Foster, Capt.

( The SON was Jeremiah (4) the only surviving son of old Ebenezer, and he could not be spared from the farm.)

The only service of Capt. Nath'l Lovejoy I can find, is at Dorchester Heights at the forts there, and he had some supervision at the time of the Evacuation of Boston.

Sam'l Osgood, appointed to the staff of General Ward had resigned because he had no taste for war, -it is said, -or military work anyway. Possibly the two Branden women who were so well acquainted with Boston officers -held Tory sentiments, and did all they could to keep these two men at home.

Sam'l Osgood served on the Board of War with the Provincial Congress and became the 1st P.M. General. Nathan Lovejoy was a trainer of men rather than a leader, and Sam Phillips the same- no military genius.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry, no matter how small, should be carefully documented to ensure the integrity of the financial data. This includes recording dates, amounts, and the nature of the transactions.

Secondly, the document highlights the need for regular reconciliation. By comparing the internal records with external statements, discrepancies can be identified and corrected promptly. This process helps in maintaining the accuracy of the accounts and prevents any potential errors from accumulating.

Furthermore, the document stresses the importance of transparency and accountability. All transactions should be clearly labeled and categorized to provide a clear overview of the financial activities. This not only aids in the management of the organization but also ensures that all stakeholders have access to the necessary information.

In conclusion, the document outlines several key principles for effective financial management. These include maintaining accurate records, performing regular reconciliations, and ensuring transparency in all financial dealings. By adhering to these principles, the organization can achieve financial stability and success.

NOTES

John Lovejoy was called upon to testify in the case against one Sergt. John Stevens, who was summoned to court on charges of Intoxication, some one having given him mixed liquor, which made him ver<sup>y</sup>/drunk indeed. page 122- vol. 1650-1693 Cont. Records;

" Mr. Sergt. Stevens came from Sergt. Beldin's and neare my mother Rowell's ( old Mrs. Osgood) stile I observed him to reele coming to me. I asked him HOW HE DID. He said pretty well,- but the liquor did fume in his head.

A little after , coming out of my mother's home he went to ye east and stood theere a little while , then lay down complaining then of his head and stomach. People come to and fro. I was willing to get him in to the house and I took him to lead him in and he was so overcome as that he was not able to go nor stand , nor did he draw back unwilling to go but was like a child newly learning to goe.

And laying him on the bed he then cried out of drinking the liquors and being overcome with them , and many such expressions he used complaining that they flamed his head and burned in his stomach, or words to this purpose, and WAS MUCH TROUBLED THAT HIS WIFE SHOULD KNOW OF IT.

On the way to the house as we led him in/<sup>after</sup>we slacked our hold he dropped down.

The deposed further affirmeth that if he ever saw any drunk in his life, HE WAS DRUNK.

Likewise by the way to Andover Sergt. Stevens said he was never so CATCHED in his life. It may well be called "Kill Devil " for he thought it would kill devil and man too."

( This was occasioned by asking HOW HE DID!)

1. The first part of the paper discusses the importance of the study of the history of the United States. It is argued that a knowledge of the past is essential for a full understanding of the present and for the development of a sound policy for the future. The author points out that the study of history is not only a means of satisfying a natural curiosity about the past, but also a means of training the mind in the habits of logical and critical thinking. It is further stated that the study of history is a means of developing a sense of responsibility and a feeling of loyalty to the country. The author concludes that the study of history is a most important part of the education of every citizen.

2. The second part of the paper discusses the various methods of studying history. It is pointed out that there are many different ways in which history can be studied, and that each method has its own advantages and disadvantages. The author discusses the methods of reading, of attending lectures, of visiting museums, and of conducting research. It is stated that the most effective method of studying history is that which combines all of these methods. The author concludes that the study of history should be a continuous process, and that it should be a part of the life of every citizen.

3. The third part of the paper discusses the various sources of information about the past. It is pointed out that there are many different sources of information, and that each source has its own limitations. The author discusses the sources of written records, of oral tradition, of archaeological remains, and of other sources. It is stated that the most reliable source of information is that which is based on the most accurate and complete records. The author concludes that the study of history should be based on the most reliable sources of information.

4. The fourth part of the paper discusses the various problems of the history of the United States. It is pointed out that there are many different problems, and that each problem has its own complexities. The author discusses the problems of the early years of the country, of the period of the Civil War, and of the period of the Reconstruction. It is stated that the most important problem of the history of the United States is that of the development of the country. The author concludes that the study of history should be a means of understanding the problems of the past and of finding solutions for the problems of the future.

5. The fifth part of the paper discusses the various contributions of the study of history to the development of the United States. It is pointed out that the study of history has made many contributions, and that each contribution has its own importance. The author discusses the contributions of the study of history to the development of the country, to the development of the people, and to the development of the world. It is stated that the most important contribution of the study of history is that of the development of the country. The author concludes that the study of history is a most important part of the education of every citizen.

OF ANDOVER

Notes :- ( Some of Joseph Lowe's doings.)

229:82 - John Harding 's mortgage. Lowe is said to hold a claim.

Harding lived on Old Bucklew place, corner of the turnpike.
The Dilloways and Samuel Osgood were/<sup>in</sup> adjoining tenements up the street. Joseph Lowe owned a lot next the river, north of Harding.

228: 213:- Jos. L. Lowe sale to Dr. Abiel Pierson, land on the Pierson estate north of Joseph's lot and that of Capt. Edward West; S.E.
On West's; S.W. on Moses Parker's; N.W. on Pierson, 54 1/2 rods .
1821. ( Who were all these people?) Lots were back of the Punchard house, I think.

1814: Reference to Essex Turnpike house and buildings purchased of Joseph L. Lowe. Trustees of P.A. held the mortgage.

---Something about Ben Kimball and the trustees, and another mortgage made by Lowe to Kimball, 1819.

1822- Creditors advertised the estate to be sold. Nathl Poor, Sam Merrill and Sam'l Ayers bought it up. Nov. 21, 1822.

145:130--

Tim Holt, cordwainer, deposes, Nov. 17, 1828: " In the afterpart of the day, Mr. John Harding called on him and wished him to witness the tender of some money to Jos. L. Lowe, in order to redeem his dwelling house and land. Agreeable to his desire, in company with him and W. Brown and Mr. John Flint, who boarded at the house of said Lowe, met at the doors and all went in together. Mr. Harding paid the wife of said Lowe in her husband's absence, the sum of $ 320. There were 4 500 bills on Boston Bank, and the remainder, principally upon the Bank of Essex County.

 " John Harding dictated/in my presence, that from instructions in his possession, he calculated that the sum due said Lowe, with the interest, did not exceed $313.84."

John Flint, cabinet-maker, testified likewise, Nov. 17, 1828.
 These depositions in case of Harding estate, vs. Lowe's cheating.

 223:227- Contract of Lowe with Jn. Brown, 1820, to build a house like Amos Blanchard's.

--- --- ---
 No record anywhere of sale to Lowe by Jn. Phillips- vendue or transfer to anybody, before 1827. Lowe claimed a right to the estate.

LOWE FAMILY

The earliest ancestor traced by an Andover LOWE needing a Revolutionary record, is Ephraim Lowe , of Sanford Maine. He had a son Ephraim, Jr.(3) who, tradition has it, married an English girl, Hannah Came . Their sons were : Ephraim (3); Timothy (3); James (3).

Timothy, (3), born in 1824; died in ANDOVER, 1901. He married in 1855, Mary Saunders/<sup>born 1815;</sup> of South Reading, a daughter of Timothy Saunders. They lived for many years in Wilmington, coming to Ballardvale in the 1880's, to the home now owned by her on High St.

Timothy (3) Lowe died 1901 and since that time his widow has had her niece, Mrs. J.H. Smith, live with her.

Timothy (3) and Mary(Saunders)Lowe, had :-

Willard F. (4) ; of Providence, R.I.

Albert W. (4) ; of Summer St.Andover.

According to family tradition, an Ephraim Lowe, soldier in the Revolution, had part of his nose shot away at Battle of Bunker Hill. He is said to have been near Washington and Lowe when they concluded the terms of evacuation of Boston, and saw the British sail away from Boston harbor.

The first of these is the fact that the majority of the specimens of the new species are from the same locality, and that they are all of the same size and shape. This is a very unusual occurrence, and it is therefore probable that the new species is a new variety of one of the known species. The second fact is that the new species is found in the same locality as one of the known species, and that it is very similar to it in its external characters. This is also a very unusual occurrence, and it is therefore probable that the new species is a new variety of one of the known species.

The third fact is that the new species is found in the same locality as one of the known species, and that it is very similar to it in its external characters. This is also a very unusual occurrence, and it is therefore probable that the new species is a new variety of one of the known species. The fourth fact is that the new species is found in the same locality as one of the known species, and that it is very similar to it in its external characters. This is also a very unusual occurrence, and it is therefore probable that the new species is a new variety of one of the known species.

The fifth fact is that the new species is found in the same locality as one of the known species, and that it is very similar to it in its external characters. This is also a very unusual occurrence, and it is therefore probable that the new species is a new variety of one of the known species. The sixth fact is that the new species is found in the same locality as one of the known species, and that it is very similar to it in its external characters. This is also a very unusual occurrence, and it is therefore probable that the new species is a new variety of one of the known species.

The seventh fact is that the new species is found in the same locality as one of the known species, and that it is very similar to it in its external characters. This is also a very unusual occurrence, and it is therefore probable that the new species is a new variety of one of the known species. The eighth fact is that the new species is found in the same locality as one of the known species, and that it is very similar to it in its external characters. This is also a very unusual occurrence, and it is therefore probable that the new species is a new variety of one of the known species.

The ninth fact is that the new species is found in the same locality as one of the known species, and that it is very similar to it in its external characters. This is also a very unusual occurrence, and it is therefore probable that the new species is a new variety of one of the known species. The tenth fact is that the new species is found in the same locality as one of the known species, and that it is very similar to it in its external characters. This is also a very unusual occurrence, and it is therefore probable that the new species is a new variety of one of the known species.

The eleventh fact is that the new species is found in the same locality as one of the known species, and that it is very similar to it in its external characters. This is also a very unusual occurrence, and it is therefore probable that the new species is a new variety of one of the known species.

" I remember when my grandfather died. Father (Richard(4)- went down to Salem and was going over to Marblehead to see grandfather that same night. Uncle Henry told him to wait until morning as he had seen him and he would go over with him, and that the old man was as well as usual as he had been with him that afternoon. Father stayed in Salem and in the morning, about 7 o'clock, he said that his chamber door opened and he saw grandfather come into the room. He sprang up to shake hands with him- and then grandfather was gone. He told uncle Henry that their father was dead and on going to Marblehead they learned that he had fallen from his chair and died just when father saw him. My father had second sight. "

Samuel (5) Luscomb, who married Terusha Trow, was taxed 33¢ in West Andover, in 1798. His brother, Richard, who came here with him, was assessed 60¢ in 1811. Henry, a third brother, was also here in 1800. Their parents remained on the old farm in Salem.

Samuel was not on the Tax List in 1800, but was listed in 1801- on East side of Shawshin River, over in town. In 1804, he was back on the West side of the river. Richard was off the list from 1811 to 1815, and tradition has it that he was in the navy, during the War of 1812.

In 1804, Samuel Luscomb sold to Herman Abbott, a pasture and tillage, 3 1/4 acres, with buildings, on the West corner of the road from Joshua Chandler's to South Meeting House; bounded on South by road to Jeduthan Abbott's; a Ridge to N. and N.W.; land ran NE along Ridge 59 rds., to Abbott's field on road from Herman Abbott's to So. Meeting House. (It was between Gipsy Road to the village and the road from Nathan Moore's place to town.)

LYNDE FAMILY

In 1648, Thomas (2) Lynde of Malden with his associate, Joseph Hill, were appointed with others, to survey the " great highway" planned from Winnisimmet Ferry to Reading, thence to Andover, and to ~~Haverhill~~ <sup>and Merrimac.</sup> Nicholas Holt and Lieut. Thomas Marshall, laid out the Andover- Reading section, which occasioned wrangling and an appeal, in 1651 to John Osgood, our Andover Representative , and Robert Clements of Haverhill and Francis Smith of Reading , who, suspecting favoritism on the part of the Malden surveyors, had them dropped from the project.

Unfortunately, both Osgood and Smith both died that year, and the course of the road, which was the cause of the holdup, remained unsettled.

In 1652, the Court acted again, and set Thomas Marshall of Reading, John Smith and John Sprague, to go on with the work. Thomas Lynde, who had deposed that it would be more convenient to set the new highway on the old road to Reading " from Tom Lines corn fields and over some part of his fields to firm ground above his house", — got the road located as he wished, due to strenuous wire-pulling. Tom always got what he wanted.

These roads followed trails, in part, and did not go around hills, but over them. When the early land lookers made a tour of several days to the north of Charlestown, they reported great hills of rocks of no use to the settlers and said that settlements would go no farther. In Wilmington there were terrible swamps under water all the year round- which were not invaded or drained until the Railroad went through in 1830.

The highway to Salem-via Middleton was surveyed the same year, i.e. 1648.
